Description of the point-rating system

Conditions and criteria for grading. Students are required to independently collect information on the subject of dissertation research, publish scientific articles, participate in various scientific events - conferences, seminars, round tables, etc.

When conducting research, the ability to conduct a discussion, a creative approach to the analysis of materials, the ability to clearly and succinctly formulate their thoughts), as well as the quality of preparation of presentations and reports are particularly appreciated. Grades are given based on the results of the study demonstrated by students throughout the entire period of internship.

The final grade is determined by the sum of points received by students for various types of work during the entire period of study provided by the study program. All types of work are carried out exactly within the time limits stipulated by the training program. If a student has not completed any of the training tasks without valid reasons, then points are not credited to him for this type of academic work, and the work prepared later than the due date is not evaluated.

For various types of work during a certain period of R&D, a student can receive a maximum amount of 100 points.

Rating system for assessing students' knowledge
