1. EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMME GOAL (MISSION)

The social relevance (mission) of the Educational Programme of the Master's Degree level in 45.04.02 Linguistics, profile Foreign Language of Professional Communication and Specialized Translation, its main goal in developing master's students' personal qualities, as well forming general cultural, professional, and specialized competencies in accordance with the requirements of the Educational Standard of RUDN University in the field of Foreign Language of Professional Communication and Specialized Translation, ensuring broad general scientific background knowledge, profound knowledge of linguistics and cross-cultural communication, high professional command of several foreign languages, and in-depth professional education allowing the graduates to successfully pursue various professional activities connected with cross-cultural communication; develop universal and subject-specific competencies conducive to social mobility and graduates' sustainability in the job marketplace. This Master Program's mission shall make it possible to prepare highly qualified linguists and translators/interpreters possessing extensive knowledge in the fields of translation theory and the studied foreign language, its stylistic resources and functional types in the context of expanding cooperation among countries, which has given a new motivation for studying the functional use of foreign languages in the framework of Bologna process recommendations.

Educational programme key objectives:

- to provide necessary conditions providing for the students' individual and personal potential and conducive to developing their spiritual, mental and creative capabilities;

- to create the necessary pre-conditions for forming motivation and interest for preserving and developing Russian linguistic experience, as well as studying foreign practice;

- to develop cognitive interest in research and scientific and project-based activities in the linguistic area.

2. EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMME RELEVANCE, SPECIFICITY, AND UNIQUENESS

To implement the competence-based approach, the Educational Programme envisages a wide use of active and interactive forms of classes (seminars in dialogue format, discussions, case study, group discussions, results of student research groups, teleconferences within and among educational institutions of higher learning) in combination with extramural activities aimed at forming and developing the learners' professional skills.

One of the key active forms of teaching professional competencies connected with pursuing a certain type (types) of activity that the master student is preparing to embark on (science and research, teaching, translation, editing and publishing, projects implementation and management) is the seminar held on a regular basis and featuring leading researchers and practitioners and serving as the basis for revising and correcting the master students' individual plans.

The academic courses involve meeting representatives of Russian and foreign companies, state and public organizations, participating in workshops given by experts and specialists.

The lectures for respective groups of students make up not more that 40% of intramural (classroom) time and involves using interactive forms of educational interaction.

The basic courses within the field's cycles comprise assignments conducive to the development of the competencies required in the graduate's future professional activity in the volume that allows forming respective systemic and professional competencies.

The Master Program includes electives accounting for at least 50% of theoretical training.

The maximum volume of the student workload is not more than 54 academic hours per week, including all types of intramural and extramural (autonomous) work targeted at completing the Educational Programme and electives that are set in addition to the Higher Education Programme and are therefore optional.

The maximum volume of intramural classes per week for the Higher Education Programme for full-time students is 20 academic hours.

The Program involves utilizing innovative teaching technologies aimed to develop skills of autonomous research, teamwork, interpersonal communication, decision-making and leadership qualities.

The Program envisages teaching digital original courses compliant to programs compiled in accordance with the requirements for digital courses developed on the MOODL platform and uploaded to RUDN's Telecommunication Education and Information System (TUIS).

3. LABOR MARKET NEEDS FOR PERSONNEL TRAINING IN EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMME PROFILE

Potential employers for the graduates of the Educational Programme are educational institutions of the system of Higher Professional Education that require teachers of foreign language of professional communication; international companies that need experts in cross-cultural communication specializing in translation in professional areas. Enterprises and internships for the Program's graduates are fulfilled in such companies as Coca-Cola HBC Eurasia, Parmalat MK, Unilever Rus, Lukoil Avia airline company, Adria Travel Group, MKM Prof company, Liga-Trans company, etc.

4. SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS FOR POTENTIAL APPLICANTS

The applicant's previous level of education is higher professional education. The applicant must have a state-issued document on higher professional education (Bachelor's or Diploma Specialist, Master's degree). The applicant's language proficiency level is not lower than B2.

Enrollment in the training program is based on the results of professional interview and testing.

The testing takes place in the form of a written exam. The exam consists of 4 tasks and lasts for 3 hours.
